MEXICANS IN TEXAS SCHOOLS.

Children of Wealthy Families Educate Only Sixteen Seedless Oranges ed in San Antonio. Mr. La Salle A. Maynard tells "The Story of the Seedless Orange" in The Ten carloads of school children from Mexico have arrived in this city since the influx began about two weeks ago says the San Antonio Express. Scores of them were accompanied by their parents, and the hotels of the city have been indebted, in no small degree, to this class of visitors for the brisk conditions which have been experienced by them during the last sev eral weeks. Many of the children traveled from their distant homes alone or in pairs or tries, while it was no uncommen sight to see parties of nine or ten from the same localities across the Rio Grande at the various hotels.

Nearly all the school equipment and wearing apparel for the entire year are purchased for these children here in San Antonio before they enter their respective schools, and the commer-cial importance of their annual visit

Their parents, too, before returning home, spend several days in the city purchasing large quantities of American goods to take back with them to Mexico, and as the majority of them are persons of great wealth and social position at home, their expenditure amount to thousands of dollars.

Of all the children from Mexico who are educated in the United States the schools of San Antonio secure over 70 per cent. Not only on account of the proximity of the city to the bor der, but also because of the genera excellence of the schools and the healthful climate and surroundings ex perienced here San Antonio has al ways been the favorite place with the Mexicans for their children to obtain an English education.

LONDON HAS NO LOCAL PRIDE. British Newspaper Takes Whirl at Big Metropolia.

Blindfold a Londoner of the cen ter, put him down in the Caledonian road or on Brook Green or at Herne Hill, then take off the bandage and ask him where he is. The chances are ten to one he will have no notion at all. They might just as well be in the provinces. Practically they are in the provinces. They are not inhabited by Londoners in the true sense, but by people whom accident or necessity has brought within the metropolitan area and who would be just as happy 200 miles away. Their atmosphere is not metropolitan. They are not of the center. They are on the frings.

That is why London has so little local pride. It is not a community. It is a congeries of suburbs, each withits separate narrow interests, grouped around a little city whose citizens have so wide a horison that they can spare next to no attention for local affairs. How can civic patriotism be expected from a man who spends all his week-ends at a house in the country, the spring on the Riviers, the autumn in Scotland or the Mediter ranean? THE ORME OF LOBBYING.

By Governor J. W. Felk. There should be a law making it a crime for any one for compense tion to lobby with the members of the Legislature. All persons, of course, should be permitted to anpear before committees and make arguments for or against measures in the regular and open way.,,Any person should also be permitted to die printed arguments or briefs with numbers of the Legislature. But in reier that publicity may be given to what is going on waser tear punicity may be given to want is going on it should be provided that copies of the printed argu-ments or briefs be filed in the office of the Secretary of State and subject to public inspection.

This smallight of publicity is the groatest preventive of corruption. This measure would not prevent the average edition from talking to members of the Legislature about measures of public interest. It is only paid lebbying that it is intended to prohibit. It has been urged that such a law would violate the right of free speach in prevesting any person, even though a professional lobbyist, from talking to members of the General Assembly. The right of free speech is a secred right, but the right of the people to have their laws untainted by venal influes is also sacre

A man cannot talk to a juror trying a case to influence him about the case. The right of free speech has its limitations. This is one of them, and interfering with legislation is another. #### HEALTHFULNESS OF ROLLER SKATING.

By C. R. Williams, Expert.

Roller skating is either a pleasure or it is not. It is a pleasure for those who have learned to skate. It is not for the few just beginning. To the experienced, no more pleas-ing pastime can be imagined than to glide along a glass-like surface at varying speeds. making wide swoops to right or left, turning, gliding backward, every movement the essence of grace.

I have been skating for six years, summer and winter, and it has made a new man of me. When I took up goller states I was sick and miserable. Had any one told me I would become well and strong from skating I would have laughed. But I liked the exhitaration. Within three months the lassitude had passed away and in six months I was in good physical condition, without a trace of illness. Nor have I been sick since. Roller skating opens a wide field to the person who likes fancy skating. The figures and tricks are almost without number, and what makes it so enticing is that it is much easier to learn than ice skating. As a physical culture act, roller skating works wonders. It develops every sauscle in the body. It southes the nerves and brings repose. The one fault with beginners is that they want to skate too long. They do not etop when tired, and wear themselves out. If the average skater devoted an hour and a half two or three times a week to skating, the selits would be a surprise.

AMERICA'S DISAPPEARING FORESTS.

By Secretary Wilson. If better care, nigra general propagation, and a fostering of present conditions are not observed, the for-ests of the United States will be practically wiped out inside of another ten years. The pine timber of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota is practically wiped out.

Forest fire is the one great thing to be guarded against, and for that ion the government has employed thousands of men to watch for fires. A person can ride for successary wilson, miles through Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota and see barren sections where formerly grew our great plue forests. Fires, started either carelessly or otherwise, have wiped out millions and millions of dollars' worth of the best of our hard wood. Unless something is done we will not have enough hard wood in fifteen years at the latest to make an old-fashioned bedstead with.

beery that Germs Pass from One

The sanitary authorities of Paris have reached the conclusion that house can be infected with cancer and that rooms which patients have inhabited will convey the disease long after the victims are dead, says the New York Sun. Observation seems to prove that in houses where a death from cancer has appeared the disease often breaks out again when occupied by other familles. This fact has so often been noted that now a census has been taken to see about houses where cancer patients died during the last six months of 1006.

There are 1,062 houses on the list which will be watched to see if the new residents become affected with the disease. Already in twelve of the houses there have been two successive cases, not counting twenty-six deaths from the same disease. There has not yet been sufficient time to draw absolute conclusions, but the facts brought forward by certain physicians are start-

Dr. Armande reports that in a vilurring in the same block of houses. Three years later seventeen of these houses had sheltered twenty patients. The doctor concluded that the houses were hotbeds of cancer germs and that no amount of disinfecting would drive a submissive, trusting heart and an them away.

Dr. Fillassier makes report of a house where during thirty years there were five deaths from cancer, all in different families. Dr. Lambier mentions a farm house at Gusny where eight families lived at various times. Each family developed one or two cases of the disease.

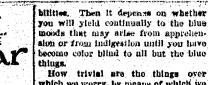

By purling brook, 'neath stormy wave,
It matters little or naught to me: The question as to whether cancer is hereditary is not to be attributed to But whether the Angel Death comes down the same cause. Interesting results are expected from the observation which is now going on.

How ineffective it all is. Whoever by worrying all night succeeded in bringing about the kind of weather he wanted? More than that, it is fatal to successfully accomplishing those things that do lie within our power. The worry over catching a train or doing a piece of work so agitates the mind and unsettles the will that it reduces the chances of efficiency.

But there are larger causes of worry then these-sickness loss, impending disasters. Yet how futile to help and how notent to increase these ille is worry. A prominent man said to me the other day that there was not a church in his section of the city of a certain orthodox denomination which he would attend because of what he termed the "spineless preaching." The question is asked many times why men do not go to church and this may be an indication. In the tremendous life which we right to the afflicted in His name is live, receiving knocks and buffetings counted a service rendered directly to in our daily work, something more is needed than the mouthings of an indefinite theology.

Why should a preacher close his eyes to what every business man knows is going on in every community? There is sin, but it is not rebuked. There is impurity, but nothing is said lage of only 400 inhabitants there were and fellowship—in their daily walk. There is impurity, but nothing is said in the space of seven years eleven and conversation—in the quiet of the about it. ### BELIEF IN PRAYER.

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones. I believe in prayer because it is inevitable; it is the accompaniment of life: we can avoid it only by vacating our human nature. Prayer is akin to that which impels the germ to seek the light, which bursts the bud into flower and kisses the flower into fruit. It is that which gives wings to the chrysalis I see it in the hungry eyes of the dog as he looks into the face of his master; it is that which wreathes the adoring face of the babe in the mother's arms.

I believe in prayer because it is belpful; it is justified by experience. Prayers are answered not according to the impatience of the human but according to the calm of God; we get not what we ask but what we need. All deads are first thoughts. Desire is the mold into which life pours its energies. Our yearnings are the rungs on the trestle board according to which the structure of our lives is shaped. God is in every cry that goes God-ward. I believe in prayer because it is resonable, it is philosophic. True philosophy is not a scheme of thinking, but it is a recognition of the facts of life, a discovery of things as they are. The Incapensive Mixture of Harmics Vegetable ingredients Said to Overcome Ridney and Bladder Trouble Promptly and Cure Rhesmatten.

Flore is a simple home-made mixture as given by an emident authority on Kidney diseases, who makes the statement in a New York daily newspaper, that it will relieve almost any case of Kidney trouble if taken oefore the stage of Bright's disease. He states that such symptoms as lame back, pain in the side, frequent fesire to urinate, especially at night; natural and discolored urination, are readily overcome. Here is the recipe; try it:

Fluid Extract Dandellon, one-half ounce: Compound Kargon, one ounce: Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

A well-known physician is authority that these ingredients are all harmless and easily mixed at home by shaking well in a bottle. This mixture has a peculiar healing and soothing effect upon the entire Kidney and Urinary structure, and often overcor worst forms of Rhenmatians in just a little while. This mixture is said to remove all blood disorders and cure the Rhenmatism by forcing the Kidnevs to filter and strain from the blood and system all uric acid and foul, de composed waste matter, which cause the affictions. The trouble that started in New York spread to Pittsburg, but prompt and effective action taken by the clearing house association and the directors of the stock exchange there coped with it effectually.

The trouble in Pittsburg was precipitated by the announcement of the embarrassment of four concerns in the Westinghouse string of interests, which were unable, owing to the abnormal stringency of the money market, to secure sufficient liquid collateral to meet maturing loans. Receivers were appointed for the embarrassed Westinghouse concerns. It was stated that these cerns are entirely solvent, and that creditors would be paid in full. The Iron City Trust Company also went into the hands of receivers. Its assets are estimated at $4,000,000 and liabilities at $1,700,000.

The transition from unrest to ress surance in New York was due to action taken by J. P. Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmagical contical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: 74/4-It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Southing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Bealth.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, et Chicago, Illa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very estisfactory." Dr. William Halmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In any thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn; N. T., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Centeria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's." Dr. Wm. J McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirts children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and saids from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home." Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Cas toris has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorseent of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartly endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kanses City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. A Thing of Many Names. The Thames has been the cause of much controversy. Its name has been variously stated as Tameses Tamese. Tamises (at the juncture of the Isis and Tame, near Dorchester), Tamisa, Tamesa, Thamisla, Thamesis and finally Isis (where it flows between the Oxfordshire and the Buckinghamshire shores). Thus at Oxford it is still often called the Isis until it receives the shallow river Tame just below Dorchester, from which point it is called names. Historians trace this error to an early attempted division of the atin word Tamesis into two words, Tame esis or Tame isis, suggested per-haps by the existence of the Tame in Bucklughamshire. The Saxons called it the Thames, ancient maps and docunents designating it Thamesis Fluvius. -From "In Themesland."

The Sloven.

Bhe came to the breakfast table in torn, dirty dress, with half combed hair. The table was without a cloth, the breakfast was badly cooked. The children were dirty and quarrelsome, and she saw them slip away to school without attempting to wash their faces or change their soiled aprons. Her husband had hastily awallowed a oup of coffee and left the house without a word to wife or children.

Bhe sat for a while gazing indifferently at the untidy table and disorderly room, and then began lazily to set things in order. She dwadled over her work without spirit or system, and the children were home from school before the beds were touched. The two oldest girls hurried up stairs with scowling faces at her scolding command to them to make up the beds. Dinner was half an hour late and her husband stormed up and down the untidy house, ate an ill-cooked dinner in sullen silence and hurried from the unpleasant home. The children followed, scattering to the neighbors, to the barn, anywhere away from home and mother. The darkness drove the various members of the family into the house again, but they came unwillingly, and slipped away to bed uncared for, cross and wretched with their badly nourished bodies, and hearts that hungered for the peace

Do you think this is an exaggerated shining stars. picture? It is not. There are home just like this, and the dirt and disorder and discomfort and heartache lie at some woman's door.

For the over worked wife and mother, for the invalid, for the ignorant who are trying to learn, who are doing their level beat to bear a heavy burden, we offer pity, sympathy and help, but for the indolent woman we have only scorn.

There is no place in the universe for a lazy woman. We will care for the sick woman, we will tolerate a cross woman -- but what shall we do to the lazy woman. Because the home is the very center of life, the homekeeper must be active, orderly and conscientious—these qualifications she must have, and if she can add to not as a society show, but as a utility these, thrift, intelligence and tenderness, we find wherever she is that most blessed and beautiful of all hibit of fat cattle, sheep and swine earthly delights, a happy home.

GRATLING, - . MICHIGAN. PORTO RICO PLEADS.

NATIVE THINKS CONSTITUTION SHOULD FOLLOW FLAG.

Urges Amalgamation with Latins instend of Americanisation of People by Legislation-Minnesota Fights to Regulate Rallroad Fares.

Porto Rico wants the American constitution as well as the American flag, and will not regard the United States as a as the latter. This information was conveyed to the delegates to a conference of Indian's friends at Lake Mohank. N. Y., in a speech by Jorge Bird Airas of Fajordo, Porto Rico. After picturing the woes of the Porto Ricans through invasion by the buccaneers, the French, and the Spanish, he said: "Naturally the mative element never feared any wrong from nation to which their eyes had more liberty. Therefore, they accepted their fate as Providence. But in the course of when they found that they were de-American citizenship, and that the American flag was there as a sign of conquest, or, perhaps, as an emblem of pro-tection only, while the constitution had remained at home, depriving them of its benefits, a natural discontent began to awaken, and it must be said that it has not disappeared yet, and will not disappear until complete justice has been done. One of the arguments set forth by those who completely lack reason and seek some excuse for the abnormal situation which involves the present political status of Porto Rico, is the great difference which exists between the two people A policy to hasten the Americanization of island is a great mistake. It is not ible that a country densely populated and having more than four centuries of existence can be changed in a short period of time. Why not let the two races in-termingle? Let the two tendencies strugele and either one win or both be recast in one of new shape and character. The Latin wit and vivacity, together with the tenacity and foresightedness of the Ameriean, may develop a new type of which the nation may in the future have reason

ORIENTAL LINER IS SUNK.

Empress of China Goes Down a Vancouver Wharf.

pany's oriental liner Empress of Chine sank Wednesday night alongside her dock at Vancouver, B. C. Her seacocks must port side is awash with several feet of water. The vessel keeled over on her port side so that the main deck is at an of about 45 degrees. Her engine and dynamos are under water. She is resting on a mud bottom, but the problem in saving her will be that of righting the vessel and preventing her from turning turtle. Early in the evening the steward noticed that the water was coming in over the lower deck. All day the liner had been loading flour, 500 or 600 tons of which is being turned into paste in the I. The steward gave the alarm, and officers, who were at dinner, hurried to their stations. All hands manned the pumps, but it was too late to save the Empress from sinking, and everyone went ashore. By 8 o'clock the port stern was resting on the bottom of the barbor, the tops of the masts leaning over the wharf and extending to the gables of the large freight sheds. The starboard side of the main deck is still about ten feet above water. The steamer is valued approxi-mately at $1,000,000. She is 485 feet long and was built in 1891 in England. She was booked to sail for the Orient Thursday, and would have carried the British mails for Hongkong, for which the line received a large subsidy from the

GRAB TOBACCO; TRUST BLOW.

Government Officials Put Burden of Proof Up to Owners.

Acting under the provision of the Sherman anti-trust law, which permits the confiscation of property of an illegal corporation, United States authorities at Norfolk, Va., seized a consignment of tobacco and clarettes valued at $7,000 and consigned to the British-American Tobacco Company of Great Britain. This is the first time that seizure has been made under this section of the act and consti-tutes a departure of the department of justice in its warfare against the alleged trusts. It is pointed out that the impor-tance of this new method of procedure is in the fact that it is directed against the property and not against owners and that it puts the burden upon the owners in court to prove that the property does not come under the contrabrand provision.

18 MYSTERY.

Money in Transit to Oshkosh Reported to Have Disappeared in Union Denot-Ute Indiana Revolt and Then Think Better of It.

Eighteen thousand dollars, according to rt emanating from authentic was stolen shortly before 12 Wednesday ulght from the offices of the United States Express Company above the Union depot in Milwaukee. The affair is a mystery. D. C. S. Boyle, agent for the company in Milwaukee, was persistent in his refusal to discuss the matter, declining either to affirm or deny the rumor. After continued questioning he admitted that "something is wrong," but beyond this he would say nothing. From other sources, however, it was learned that a big sum of money, placed in sacks was deposited Wednesday even ing by the company in its office above the depot. It was in transit to various banks in Oshkosh, and was left in the office with the intention of having it transferred to a north-bound train a short time later. According to one version of the affair, entrance to the office was obtnined through a rear door and the rob-bery committed while the persons who were supposed to be on watch were not ooking. Three of the sacks were ripped open and the contents taken. The first looking intimation that a robbery occurred came with the discovery of the mutilated and empty sacks on the floor. Employe after employe was called in and questioned, but no light on the robbery, so far as could be ascertained, was obtained.

EXPRESS THEFT IN MILWAUKEE FOUR GREAT NATIONS VIE IN AERIAL CONTEST.

> Nine Teams of Leading Countries o the World Bare Amid the Clouds at the International Airsbin Contest at St. Louis.

Nine mammoth balloons, representing four of the great nations of the world, started at St. Louis Monday afternoon on a voyage which was expected to add an important chapter to the history of aerial navigation.

The contest was known officially as the second international aeronautic cup race, and the prize, a massive silver trophy and $2,500 in cash, was to be awarded to the pilot whose skill and during should land his car farthest from the starting point. As the baloons were of similar design and material the race would go to the French, English, German or American aeronaut who was capable of taking the best advantage of favorable winds and who lost the least ground under ad versity,

The race marked the entrance of the United States into competition with the European nations in a field which had been left almost exclusively them in the past. It was through the winning of the cup last year in a race from Paris by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm of the United States army that the contest was brought to this com-The three American teams are all that were allowed to enter under the rules of the competition, but so great has interest grown that the Aero Club of America, which was in charge, could have entered many times the number of balloons permitted.

abroad for enrying on the wars with China and with Russia, and the remainder internal obligations. These loans bear, on an average, 5 per cent interest, unking her interest item alone some $55, 0880,000 annually. To meet this debt, principal and interest, and to provide for her running expenses, Japan has a revenue, estimated, for the present year, at $308,227,000, derived in large part from direct taxation on land, incomes, business mining, customs, sugar, bourses, etc. The fact that this estimate exceeds that of 1984 by $144,494,000 affords a striking illustration of the increasing strain upon the taxpuyer in jurying the cost of wars. Furthermore, there has been an increase in the annual pension expense of Japan of from $15,000,000 to $18,000,000 during the past two years. Another war would mean more interest charges, increased pensions and heavier taxes upon a people already overburdened with war debt. Japan could not hope to prosecute a war against the United States with less expense than that of her struggle against Russia, even if she were successful in obmining the necessary funds for conduct ing the coaffet. It will be recalled that her 40-year 5 per cent bonds for her $115,000,000 loan in London and Paris (see March brought only 180)<sub>2</sub>, whereas gilt-selged, 40-year, 5 per cent investment securities ought to bring more than par. If it is true that the money markets de termine wars in these days it is clear that war isotween the United States and Japan is not among the possibilities of the mmediate future.

Trade and industry have tended toward quiet in sympathy with reports of financial unsettlement at New York and a few other cities, the continuance of mild weather affecting as it does retail distribution, the natural seasonable slowing down of jobbing trade and the influence upon retail trade and collections of the continuance of the holding movement of crops. On the other hand the francish situation at New York, generally speak-ing, seems to be well in hand; the New York banks, under courageous and expension enced lendership, are meeting conditions as they arise with discretion; resent declines in prices of cereals and cutton have encouraged foreign demand for the country's products, the holding of cotton, a creat exchange-making medium, is showing some signs of relaxing, and low-ered prices of domestic commodities lead to the hope that the demand of a prosperous country, affected by the unduly high level of some commodities, will re-

succeeds without regard to expacity, Muredity in Plants

The general principles of heredity formulated by Mendel give much promise in the way of crop improvement through more systematic methods of breeding. It is believed by many biologists, says Harper's Magazine, that Mendel's law offers in part a solution to some of the perplexing problems in plant and animal improvement. It is too early, however, to predict what benefits can reasonably be expected from its application. This law attempts to reduce to a mathematical bais the characteristic of the progeny of plants and animals; a certain per-centage having the individual characteristics of each parent, and a certain percentage the blended character istics of both parents. It is not too much to expect that the proposed law. with medifications, will do much to place the science of plant breeding upon a rational basis. In the case of corp, careful selections of seed has resulted in the production of plants which have a tenden-cy to produce an additional ear, thereby increasing the yield 10 to 25 per cent. Also cars of larger size and more uniform character are se by breeding and selecting the seed corn. One of the best examples of the improvement of a crop by selection and breeding is the sugar beet, which has been developed from the common stock of garden beets that contain only a small amount of saccharine material and are unsuitable for the manufacture of sugar, until high-grade beets containing 16 to 18 per cent of sugar are secured.

In a bulletin last spring by Prof. Gowell, of the Maine station, the writer says: Where an appetizing bran mash was once given hot and the bens gorged on it, became fat, laid soft-shelled eggs and learned to eat them up, now the same materials were kept before them all the time in dry form, and while they are what they needed and used the time necessary to grind coarser feed in making eggs, they were not overfed. This combination is 200 pounds wheat bran, 100 each of cornmeal, linseed, gluten, middlings and meat scrap. Eight quarts whole grains are given daily.

The hens are kept in pens with three sides built of double walls filled with sawdust, fourth, facing the south, having two windows and a space 10x8 feet that is open all day and closed at night by centras door. A warm bedroom is built, the floor being raised three feet from the floor of the pen; here the birds roost at night and are shut in with another canvas door. Ventilators at the top furnish air. Conditions are ideal, no dampness anywhere, and the bens have vigor and vitality. Eggs are more meaty and hatch better.

Chicks are fed grit first, then small, hard grains and a dry mash, very similar to that furnished the bens.

DROP IN STOCK PRICES.

Parmer In Gotting Richer the Speculator Poster.

Wheat and corn are going up and tocks are going down, writes William 2. Curtis in the Chicago Resord-Herald. The farmer is getting richer and the apulistor poorer—which many people will agree is to the line of eternal justice. Stocks are lower most than they have been for several years. They are now down for several years. They are now down practically where they were at the time of McKinley's election, when "The Era of Prosperity" set in. The decline has been general, affecting almost everything in the list of securities available to the public, and Wall street statisticians declare that the total shrinkage amounts to at least $3,500,000,000. But the value of the property these stocks represent, and their earning espacity has not been impaired. In most cases the dividends will not be affected; the shrinkage only represents water that has been squeezed out and the speculators are practically the only sufferers. The permanent investor who has locked his certificates up in a tip box and out them away in the safe deposit vault is not likely to suffer from the present shrinkage. His property is worth just as much as it ever was, but the certificates no longer have the fictitious value given The slump is by no means confined to

New York or to American securities. It has been general all over the world. Brit-ish, French, German, Italian, Indian and Bouth American shares have suffered a marked decline, although in no case has it been so sharp as may be seen in the quotations of American industrials. London and Northwestern railroad stock has dropped twenty-two points, shares in the copper mines of Spain have fallen twentycopper mines of Spain have rance four points, those of the Great Eastern railway of England are twenty points the beginning lower than they were at the beginning of this year. British consols have dropped 5 per cent; Japanese, Chinese, Rus-sian, South African, Egyptian and Indian railway securities and government bonds have all fallen off from 3 to 20 per cent, while South African mining stocks are 27 per cent below the quotations for Jan. 2. 1907. French railway and bank stocks have sympathized with the general de-pression and in Germany the same condi-tions prevail. The stock of the Bank of and the Credit Lyonnais of Paris. which are among the strong institution in the world, sympathize with less val nable securities and show a decline of several per cent. Therefore American investors should not feel at all uneasy, but bould congratulate themselves this universal shrinkage they have es-caped the perils of a local panic.

Editor Page of the World's Work is advocating the establishment of a school for authors in connection with the universities. He holds that writing is a trade like any other, and that those who propose to follow it should receive a regular course of instruction. He would have each poet student compelled to write a sonnet day for one term, and each prose student 1,000 words, the course to extend over three or four years.

In Missouri the condition of public school teachers seems even less satisfac tory. J. M. Greenwood, president of the State Teachers' Association, says the av-erage pay of men teachers is $325 a year, J. M. Greenwood, president of the and of women teachers $310 a year. The average for the country schools alone is considerably lower. In some country districts teachers receive less than half the compensation of unskilled labor. There is said to be a constant stream of the best of the Maine teachers going to other parts of New England, to New York and to the West. Presumably this stream does not head toward Missouri. The attendance last year at the Maine normal school was less than for several years. The reason for this is apparent.—Hart ford Courant.

According to a report of the Brooklyn (Mass.) Teachers Association, as pub-ished in the Lawrence Telegram, there is a decided sentiment throughout the State favoring a system of promotion by sub lects instead of stades in the secondary schools. It is also felt that a liberal education course aboutd be devised, to tak afteen years is he completion instead of ten years, as at present. The Telegram remarks that if the attempt to have the National Educational Association adopt this report is waterestil a change nothing short of revolutionary will soon be in force in our national educational system.

After Run Erkausts $8,000,600 Meserve, Directors Order Beers Closed - Stuck Exchange Fire Walls for $8,000,000.

Thirling a day bordering on widespread financial panic, New York Tuesday witnessed the suspension of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, the secend largest in the country, with de-posits aggregating more than $62,000,-000; the failure of the stock broker age firm of Mayer & Co., whose lia-bilities are estimated at $6,000,000, and the serious embarrasament of six banks and another trust company. The resignation of Charles T. Bar ney, president of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, precipitated a run on the four branches of the bank in the morning. The directors announced that they had plenty of money to meet all depositors, but the rush grew so heavy that at noon, after a conference, it was decided to close the bank tem porarlly. The day's events included the sus sion temporarily, and possibly for some time, of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, a concern with $63,000,000 of Seposits; frantic selling at panic prices of shares on the stock exchange; the rise of call money to 70 per cent; a 86,000,000 brokerage failure; and the circulation of sinister rumors as to the standing of men and banks whose cradit has hitherto been unassailed. Credit, the bulwark and support of all s, was shaken to its foundation. and the general banking situation be came so grave that the Federal government was forced to act. The entire was set to work to prevent widespread ing financial trouble.

UNNERVED THREE DOGS.

Lightning in Baltimore Plays Pranks and Scares Canines.

Doing nothing more than scare three dogs into a state of unstrung nerves and then, after striking a tree and scaling the rust off an iron grating, a bolt of lightning passed over the heads of the animals within a foot or two and stunned a man in a house short distance away. The lightning struck a locust tree in the yard of Adolph Kuehn, York road and Chestnut Hill avenue, while the thunderstorm was at its height. Three dogs belonging to Mr. Kuchn a Great Dane pup, a fox terrier, and another dog-had all made for the kennel and were huddled inside keeping dry, when the bolt struck.

The bark of the tree was blazed off for nearly two feet and the dog ken-nel was filled with splinters. The lightning then glanced off to a fence around the kennel made of wire window grating, and playing around the iron frame, scaled off the thick rust that had accumulated.

Then it shot off, and, almost spent in strength flashed through an open willdow of the home of James Crosby, on Chestnut Hill avenue, adjoining the Kuehn place. Mr. Crosby was near the window, and the bolt either struck him or passed so close to him that he was stunned for several minutes.

He quickly recovered, though, and after finding himself the victim of the lightning's freak proceeded to forget about it. The dogs, however, had los every bit of nerve they ever possessed, and crouched together in the kennel until the thunder and lightning had

Then they made a dash for the house, and all day, with the fright of their experience still clinging to them, stayed close to their human friends.-

WHITE FOR MOURNING

Black Has Given Way as a Color for Widow's Weeds, Etc.

Black mourning has had its day. We are henceforth comme les reines blanches of the early Renaissance, to wear white mourning. This is not so much a reversion as a further imitation of the victorious Japanese. A black hat, feathers and gloves, with a white dress, are to pass for le dernier cri de l'ame en deuil. It will do as well to be entirely in white, or perso blank, so insipid as to be almost penitential. The widow of royal line 400 years ago was in white from top rites, who had lost her husband at the battle of Pavia, went to Madrid to vis-It her captive brother habited in white —wimple, riding habit and all in white, in sign of widowhood. Black mourning came in from Florence with Catherine de Medici. Violet mourning for the head of the state went out with the revolution. M. For the dresses of ladies not in mourning there will be next winter only violet, and of la nuance Mon-

THU HEI APES YOUTH.

Chinese Empress Retains "Youth" by Use of Cosmetics and a Whip.

Nowhere does a woman, whether the most beautiful, most courted most intriguing, make a more elaborate or fastidious toilet than does Tsu Hal, dowager empress of China, the Flowery Realm.

Tsu Hai is in her seventy-fourth car; her flatterers tell her she looks ike 25: her enemies reluctantly but ruthfully confess she looks like 45. Her beauty is only a tradition to-day, but authentic accounts of it describe her in her youth as tall, big-eyed, black-haired, finely formed.

No fewer than nine young ladies of the imperial suite assist at the empress tollet. It is doubtful if the best 'beautifier" in Paris, the most experi "restorer of youth" in all Europe knows more about paint, powder, and osmetics than these nine noble handmaidens. And their intense desire to please Tsu Hsi rarely flags. When it does the empress thrashes them with rattan on most sensitive surfaces.

First, the well-born lady's maids over the empress' face with a delicate, creamy composition, then they rouge her until her cheeks flame in the "autumnal glory of enchanting womanhood." Their task completed, tentatively, a great mirror is rolled to the couch on which reclines "the source of all good, the font of all pow-er." Tsu Hsi studies her acquired complexion most critically. Perhaps it does not bloom sufficiently; then her rattan comes in play; sometimes her maids rouge her imperial majesty wice or thrice before her appearance realizes her ideal and satisfies her intense vanity. The monotony of the to-let is varied by lively song, the recital of poems, the narration of court gossip-and by the swish of the rattan. Thus, "made up," iliness cannot pale Tsu Hai. Even if she cannot rise, she is massaged, rouged, pencilled. She suffered a stroke of paralysis recently from which she is recovering. But even when she was at the worst she could have smiled in the face of death with the countenance of a lovely ma-

SCOTCH UNIVERSITIES.

Taking a Prominent Part in Development of British Nation.

The prince of Wales's visit to Glasgow to inaugurate the university ex-tension buildings once more approemphasizes the important part which Scottish universities are taking in the development of the national life. This is the second en-largement which Glasgow has been compelled to make within half tury. The university, too, has behind it quite a venerable air of antiquity. as well as the hall-mark of modern utility. Its foundation dates back four centuries and a half, and, like, all the Scottish universities except Edin-burgh, which is a post-reformation royal foundation, it owes its existence to ancient ecclesiastical authority. In point of age, however, Glasgow holds only second place in Scotland's honorable academic record. Aberdeen following is a good third. Edinburgh came into being about a century later But the oldest of the Scottish univer sities is two centuries younger than Cambridge. As for Oxford, her academic beginnings are quite lost in the haze of Anglo-Saxon antiquity. The town was known as a seat of learning in the year 802 .- London Globe.

Even manual training needs new direction as it touches country life. It may not be necessary to eliminate the formal exercises of model work and weaving and the like; but some of the practical problems of the home and farm may be added.

How to make a garden, to lay out paths, make fences and labels, are manual training problems. How to saw a board off straight, to drive a nail, to whittle a peg, to make a tooth for a hand hay rake, to repair a hoe. to sharpen a saw, to paint a fence, to hang a gate, to adjust a plow point. to mend a strap, to prune an apple tree to harness a horse—the problems are bewildering from their very num

Manual training can be so taught in the achools that are equipped for it as, in 10 years, to start a revolution in the agriculture of any commonwealth .-

Thousands of Them Caught, Number ed and Put Back in British Channol.

Catching fish, measuring and mark ing them and then returning them to the sea with the chance of retailing them later is part of the work carried tion of Great Britain, says Discovery. By means of a steam trawler the fish are caught in the usual way. Each haul is carefully recorded, the fish are counted and measured and all details of locality, time, number, species, sex and size are put down, together with accurate observations on the water, the depth and bottom of the sea, the kinds and quality of food available, etc. These data are subsequently tabulated and charted. The method of marking the fish is interesting and has been attended with valuable results. The fish chiefly used during the few years the experiment has been in progress have been plaice, because the proposals which have been made to interfere with the catching of them were based on inadequate knowledge.

The fish are marked on the dorsa surface with a very thin convex metal disk bearing a number. This is attached to a fine silver wire which is passed through the thinner part of the fish near the fin and secured on the under side by a small bone button. The fish do not appear to suffer inconvenience and their growth is not interfered with in any way.

The thoroughness with which the North sea is swept by the nets of the fishing fleets is demonstrated by the fact that out of 5,039 marked place in a year. This represents 19.7 per cent, or nearly one-lifth, but for the medium-sized fish the figures are far higher, ranging from 28.4 to 39 per cent. for the whole of the North sea and to 48 per cent. in the more northern portions.

The men of the regular fishing fee-cooperate by forwarding to the labor atory of the association at Lowestof all the marked fish they catch. At the laboratory reference to the records easily establishes how much the fish have gained in size and weight since the previous catching. Moreover, the distance between the spot where it was released and the place where it was again caught gives an idea as to PUTTING HIS LOGIC TO TEST. John Seemed to Have Made His Point, but He Got No Chicken.

The old couple were eating their irst meal with their son after his re-

The Hungry Parrot.

Everybody knows one or more of those conscientious exotists who cannot rid themselves of the idea that no one can be trusted to carry out the implest details of routine work without personal appervision America, leaving in his brother's care parrot of which he was very fond. All the way across the Atlantic he worried about the bird, and no sooner had he landed at New York than he sent over this cablegram to his broth-

"Be sure and feed parret." And the brother cabled back: "Have fed him, but he's hungry What shall I do next?"-Tit
